COVID-19 Testing – South University

You can choose to seek COVID-19 testing through an in network primary care physician, urgent care, or state funded testing location. If you are experiencing symptoms, COVID-19 testing is covered in full for in-network providers for active Anthem South University medical participants. If you do not participate in South University's Anthem medical coverage, you can contact your current insurance provider. The state government may also offer additional state funded testing options.
